Gear Stacking/Gear Extentions

I would like draw attention to the extending consequences of gear stacking or extending gear will cause in the setnet percentage of the drift/set allocation. It will give select number a larger percentage the setnet allocation. In all gear stacking, I don't believe it's an expanding a business to keep it profitable problem but a bail out those who have already over invested in the fishery. Permit stacking will not only bail this group but will then give them a larger share of the fishery.

Thank you,
